Lngani, G. Forbesi, and G. gracilis, many of the plates have re-entering angles, but in their arrangement in the walls of the cup they form regular series. The pectinated rhombs also exhibit some peculiar new features. In no other genus have more than three been observed, and these, in all the genera except Echino-enocrinites, are placed one at the base of the dorsal side and two in the upper half of the body, as in the genus Pleurocystites. The surface of Glyptocystites shews that three is not the constant number. It was also supposed to be essential to these organs that each should occupy two contiguous plates, about half of the rhomb being upon one and the other half upon the other. In Glyptocystites we have the new character of-half rhombs in all the four species. Generic name from glyptos, sculptured. Glyptocystites at one time appeared to me to be so closely related to Echino-enocrinites, that I had much doubt as to the propriety of retaining the name. After having examined a number of good specimens of the Russian genus, in the Museum of Practical Geology, London, I am satisfied that there is no generic affinity between them, except in the presence of the two rhombs in the dorsal side of the base. In no other respect is there any near relationship. That the number and arrangement of the plates are the same in both genera, is not...
