T have already referred to their magnificent barn, built of stone of a circular form, three stories in height, ninety-six feet in diameter, and capable, as well as may be calculated, of containing from three to four hundred tons of hay. The carts enter in the second story; the floor or drive-way is continued round by the wall for the whole of the circle, so that the cart passes round the entire distance, and when the hay is discharged, goes out at the same door at which it entered. All the hay is deposited in the centre. Several loaded wagons may stand in the floor, and be sheltered and unloaded at the same time. The roof is a beautiful and curious specimen of carpentry; and appears to be most securely supported. In the centre of the floor, there rises to the apex of the roof a single column as large as an admiral s mast, around which a hollow frame of slats is fixed, and which serves as a ventilator or chimney to discharge the steam of the hay. It is open at the top, and protected by a small cupola against the rain. At the same time the hay is raised from the ground, about a foot by an open floor of slats, so that there is, while the hay is new, a constant circulation of air up this chimney; and one of the friends informed me, that the steam passing from the...
