And though years have passed, the world has not changed; some of those who are repatriated will be threatened by anti-Semitism, while others will be tempted by the longstanding decadence of the ruling class. This previously unpublished, semi-autobiographical novel by Elisabeth de Waal (1899-1991) features a foreword by her grandson, the Costa Book Award-winning author of The Hare with Amber Eyes. "De Waal's acid, eyewitness drama of malignant prejudice, innocence betrayed, the disintegration of the old order, and love transcendent has the same jolting immediacy as the novels of Irène Némirovsky. Another de Waal triumph of illumination." Booklist 319.
