I have hesitated to do this, because my reminiscences are so personal. To tell you about river and canal, streets and buildings, pavements and bridges, in the days of long ago, with no mention of the men who lived here, or of my own connection with these places in the past, would be as dull as one of Walt Whitman s inventories. I cannot say that I was the principal man who lived here, but I am the only one whose impressions I can give at first hand. I am convinced that my only way to entertain you is Walt Whitman s way - his way of treating the whole universe as a part of himself. And so I begin, as he begins, by saying: I celebrate myself. I describe Rochester as I saw it. It unfolded itself, to my childish eyes first, as a mystery to be solved; then, to my boyhood, it was a region of glamour; finally, it has become a notable center of population and influence, an inspiring workshop and a delightful home. You will pardon my seeming egotism, if I make my own personal history the thread upon which I string my recollections of many localities, otherwise too familiar to be interesting. The south side of Troup Street, between Eagle Street and Washington, is memorable to me, for there it was that I first saw the light. I have sometimes said that I came to Rochester in the year 1836;...
